

PHYSICIANS OF SERVICE START SOCIETY OF OWN

At a meeting in the bungalow in the capitol grounds Saturday, physicians connected with the army, navy and militia organized the United Service Medical Society with 31 members enrolled. The purpose of the society is in a measure fraternal, and it is also intended to be of mutual aid by discussion of medical subjects. The officers elected Saturday were Col. R. G. Ebert, president; Dr. C. B. Cooper, vice-president; Capt. Neal Wood, secretary. These three officers and Dr. Donald H. Currie and Dr. William Seaman will compose the executive committee.

Sessions of the society are to be held once a month, and some of the papers read at the meetings will be sent to medical journals for publication.

COMPARES MYTHOLOGY OF HAWAIIANS WITH CHRISTIAN TEACHING

"Hawaiian Mythology and Christianity" was the subject of an address delivered at the Kailua Union church last night by Hon. Fred W. Beckley, who, in an interesting way, told of the beliefs of the ancient Hawaiians and how nearly their old legends and myths resembled the teachings of Christianity.

The speaker took his text from 1 Cor. XIII, 2, "And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove all mountains and have no charity, I am nothing."

Mr. Beckley pointed out that the ancient Hawaiians, in all their undertakings, invoked the gods before attempting to do anything, and that their traditions, although hazy, distinctly tell of the creation, the fall of man and the deluge.

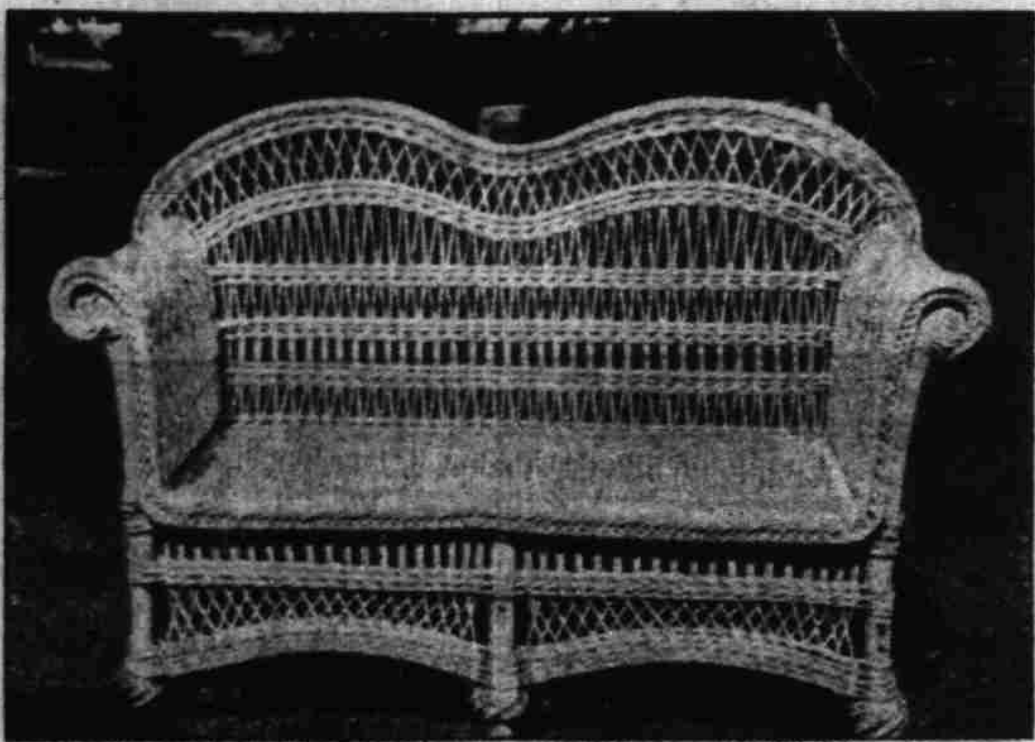

ANONYMOUS LETTERS NOT WELCOMED BY HEALTH INSPECTOR

"Don't tell your neighborhood troubles to the health inspector, because the health inspector isn't interested in such things and they waste his time. Show a little human intelligence and ask for information at the office; don't send anonymous letters."

The foregoing is the substance of the requests sent out by the territorial board of health in the form of general advice to persons complaining of unsanitary conditions of various places. The board desires information of any conditions likely to breed or transmit disease, with the location and a brief statement of the trouble. Persons making complaint are asked to be patient for a reasonable length of time after so doing, owing to the fact that some little time is required to put things in the right condition.

Three years ago the population of the world was 1,630,000,000 persons, of which the population of the United States was only 6 per cent.

Fine Furniture Made From Willow Grown In Islands

As an indication of the possibilities of a new industry in these islands, viz: the making of wicker furniture, the Board of Agriculture and Forestry has placed on exhibition for a few days in a window of the Coyne Furniture Company a handsome wicker settee. This was "made in Hawaii" from willow rods grown by the board at the Makiki experiment garden. The particular species is the Yellow Willow (Salix vitellina), and it was brought to Honolulu in 1909 by Dr. L. R. Gasser from his old home in Funchal, Madeira. The artisan was a Portuguese laborer of the board, Joe Rosa, who came to these islands eight years ago from Madeira, where he used to make wicker furniture and baskets.

To anyone who is interested in growing this willow for the making of wicker articles, the Board of Agriculture and Forestry will be very glad to furnish cuttings.

BISHOP SAYS HIGHEST MORALITY GOES WITH CHRISTIAN RELIGION

"Morality Dependent on Religion" was the subject of a sermon preached yesterday morning by Bishop Henry Bond Restarick of St. Andrew's cathedral.

Bishop Restarick said that he believes one of the greatest dangers of the day is the feeling that some men are coming to have that sin is the result of inheritance, and that the sinner therefore is not responsible.

He pointed out that while some persons maintain that mere morality without religion is sufficient, yet the standards of these highest moral ideals are in accord with the teachings of Christ.

BIG ISLAND MURDERER GETS DEATH SENTENCE

Convicted of murder, Jose Belineva, the Filipino who killed with a knife 16 year old Hattie Kunane, a Hawaiian girl, several weeks ago, after driving her into a canfield and assaulting her, will pay for his crime on the gallows. Circuit Judge John A. Mathewsman of Kailua pronounced sentence last week.

Clue to Belineva's crime was found first in the testimony of a Japanese woman who had washed his bloody clothing after the murder, though he had already been placed under arrest along with several other suspected Filipinos. Public sentiment in the community has been at a high pitch since the murder. The date of execution will be fixed by the governor. Belineva will be brought soon to Honolulu.

FIVE FOOT PLAQUE SHOWS FORMATION OF TURTLE BAY BOTTOM

Half an hour before her sailing time limit of 24 hours was up, the Japanese cruiser Asama and her conveying repair ship Kwanto, sailed yesterday morning for Japan, after taking on provisions and water at this port. The two vessels arrived at 8:10 Saturday morning, and as they are only allowed 24 hours' stay in a neutral port, were required to leave by that hour Sunday.

During her stay here the Asama overhauled her engines and loaded provisions, everything from dried fish to sake. Her hull was found to be in condition to make the voyage. The Asama came here from Esquimault and Maui, having proceeded to the Canadian port for temporary repairs after she was salvaged from the rocks of Turtle Bay.

Cmdr. Yoshioka and Cmdr. S. Inuzuka of the Kwanto made an official call on Governor Lucius E. Pinkham Saturday. The Asama is taking back to Japan the bodies of two divers who died from exhaustion as a result of the underwater salvage work at Turtle Bay.

Showing every detail of the bottom of Turtle Bay, a wooden carved plaque five feet by three reposes in the cabin of the cruiser Asama.

The plaque contains a wooden model of the Asama's hull, showing exactly how she lay while on the rocks, almost half her length lying on and between jagged boulders.

The cruiser struck the rocks last February.

Oil barges now ply on the Mississippi river.

LOS ANGELES IS REJOICING OVER LINER SERVICE

Great Northern Connections With Hawaii Expected to Boost Business

Of local interest are the plans for the Los Angeles Examiner excursion to reach here with the first trip of the Great Northern next month.

Telling of this excursion and commenting upon the Coast-Hawaii service of the Great Northern, the Los Angeles Examiner says:

"The Chamber of Commerce is to be congratulated upon its final success in establishing a direct steamship line between Los Angeles and Honolulu."

"Our northern sister city has waxed fat on the splendid trade developed with the islands. For years San Francisco has monthly shipped hundreds of thousands of dollars of commodities to the Hawaiian Islands. The returning ships have brought back vast quantities of the islands' products. It was a natural, a commendable development."

"But Los Angeles now has a good port of ever-expanding trade and importance. She is 'in the market.'"

"With malice toward none and charity to all," Los Angeles wants all the business she can legitimately get in the markets of the world. She has in recent years developed a line of excellent manufacturers and their products compare with the best originating anywhere. This also was done under the inspiration and guiding hand of the Chamber of Commerce and its far-sighted officials. 'Home Products' week is an organized effort to tell all Southern California just what is produced here. And now we have a fine opportunity to tell Hawaii what we make and sell. On this point the chamber, in a recent circular letter to its members, said:

"The continuance of a regular sailing schedule depends largely upon the interest manifested by our own people, and efforts upon the part of our merchants to secure a share of the business of the Hawaiian Islands will be an important factor in making this most desirable service permanent."

"The steamer is a palatial one, admirably adapted to the enormous tourist travel which it is expected to develop from our harbor, and the chamber would like to see a large, representative delegation from Los Angeles on board the Great Northern when this 'Sunshine Route' from New York to Honolulu, via Los Angeles, is inaugurated, November 27."

"To further the patriotic purpose of the Chamber of Commerce, the Examiner has arranged a tour de luxe of an excursion, first-class in every respect, for the Great Northern's first sailing on November 27. At a minimum cost the maximum of pleasure can thus be secured. A notable party is assured and Hawaii will receive with open arms the visitors from their new neighbor. The news of the Examiner's excursion has been cabled to Honolulu and word has come back that the ship's arrival there will be celebrated by social festivities of an unusual character."

"The new direct steamship line marks an epoch in our forward march. Southern Californians, with their celebrated energy and enterprise, may be depended upon to appreciate its significance."

"The Examiner contributes to the patriotic and prideful occasion 'an opportunity made easy' and is happy to do so."

BORN.

NABAS—In Honolulu, November 17, 1915, to Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Nabas, of Tenth avenue, Palolo Valley, a son—Pomaikai.

MACCAUGHEY—In Honolulu, November 20, 1915, to Prof. and Mrs. Vaughan MacCaughy, of 2406 Oahu avenue, Manoa, a son.

MARRIED.

WAIWAIOLLE-AMUSON—In Wailuku, Maui, November 16, 1915, Noa P. Waiwaloie and Miss Maggie Amuson, both of Wailuku, Rev. Lincoln P. Kaumehiwa, pastor of the Kaahumanu Hawaiian church, officiating.

CHONG-PUNI—In Wailuku, Maui, November 13, 1915, Ah Chong, Chinese, and Miss Rosina Puni, Hawaiian, both of Wailuku, Elder Benjamin P. Manoa of the Church of Latter Day Saints officiating.

DIED.

THOMAS—In Eureka, California, November 20, 1915, Mrs. J. K. Thomas, mother of Mrs. T. J. Heeney, of Seventeenth and Pahoehoe avenues, Kaimuki.

KAONA—In Honolulu, November 19, 1915, Douglas Kaona, of Hustace lane, hackdriver, a native of this city, 47 years old.

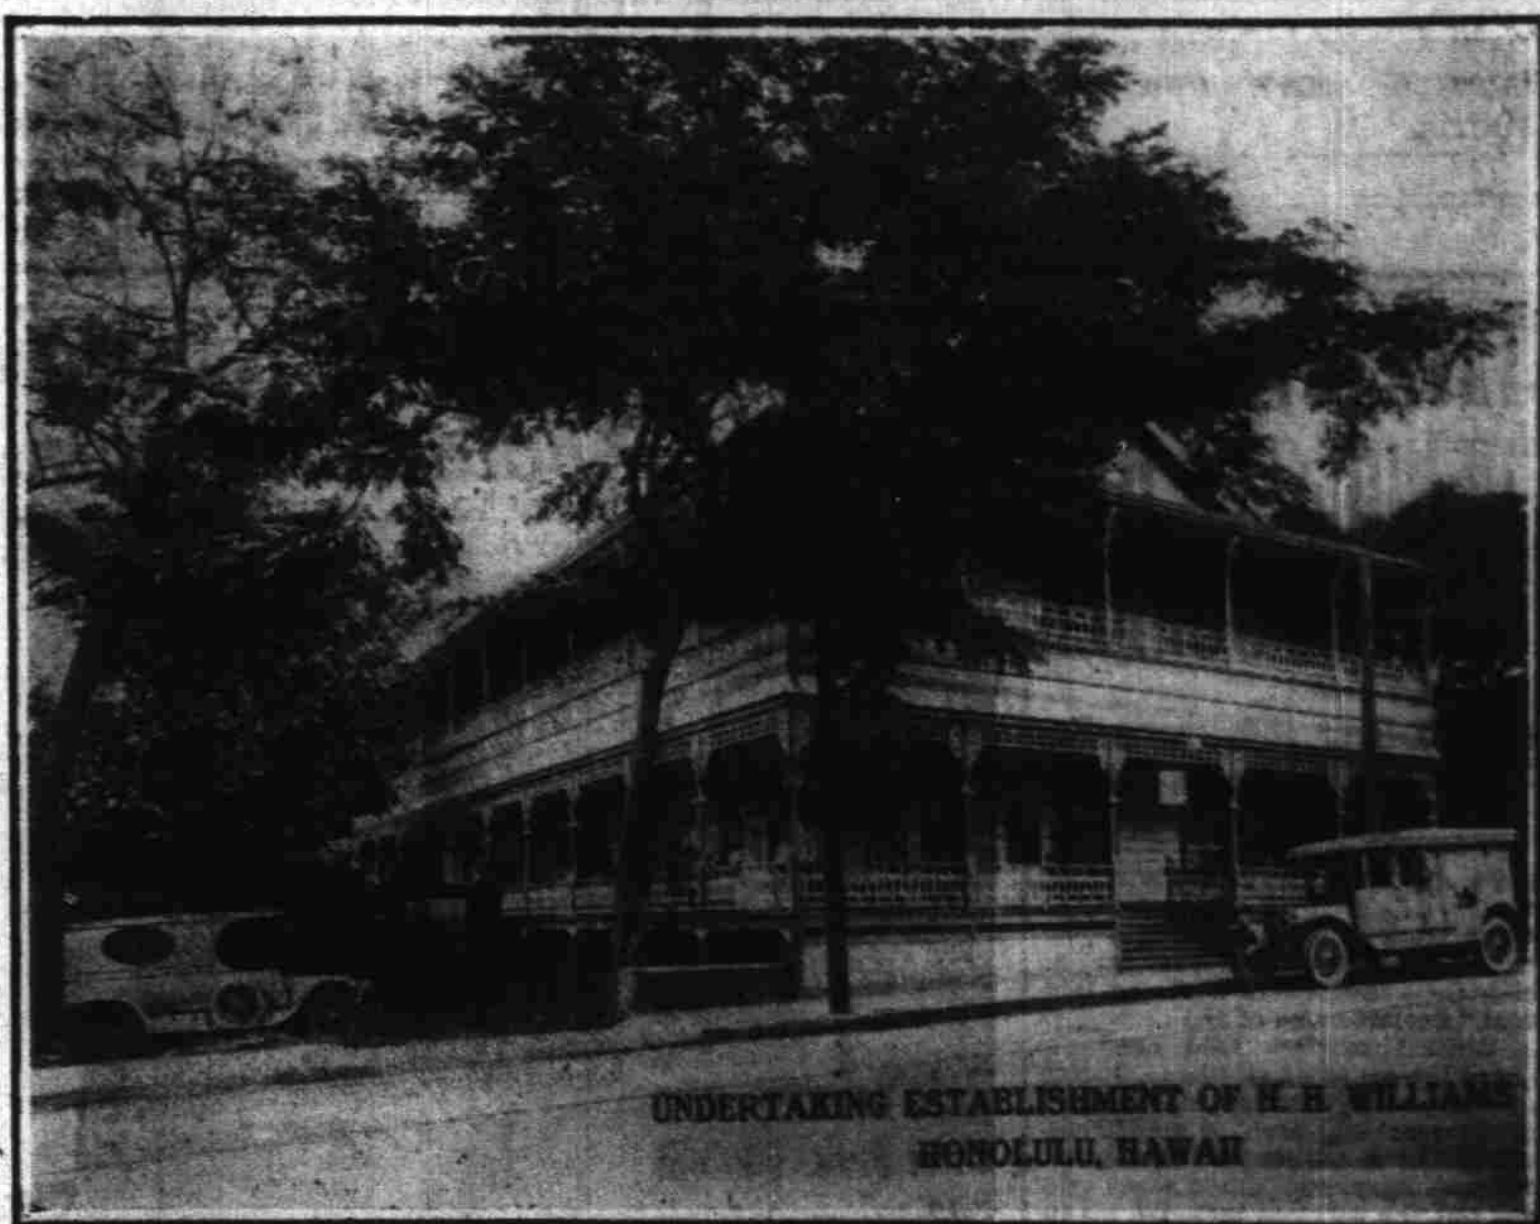

PALI—In Honolulu, November 19, 1915, Moses Pali, of Wilcox lane, off King street, married, farmer, a native of Kaneohe, Oahu, 78 years old.

KIM—At the Leahi Home, Honolulu, November 19, 1915, Kim Wo Sun (K.), of Punchbowl street, married, laborer, a native of Korea, 36 years old.

YOTARO—In Hilo, Hawaii, November 16, 1915, Ozawa Yotaro, married, police officer, a native of Hawaii, 47 years old.

CZAR'S DAUGHTER GETS WAR MEDAL

PETROGRAD, Russia. — The St. George medal of the fourth degree has been awarded to Grand Duchess Olga, the czar's daughter, for courage and devotion displayed in dressing the wounds of Russian soldiers under the enemy's artillery fire.

UNDERTAKING ESTABLISHMENT OF H. H. WILLIAMS
HONOLULU, HAWAII

The New Undertaking Parlors of Henry H. Williams

Undertaker-Embalmer

A modern Undertaking Establishment perfectly arranged for conducting of funerals in private chapels and for the comfort of attending family and friends.

Funerals directed with every detail attended to, relieving the family of all care.

Automobile Hearse
Office Phone 1408

Automobile Ambulance
Residence Phone 2255

THANKSGIVING TURKEY

We have a limited supply of very choice CORN FED live ISLAND TURKEYS from the ROBERT HIND RANCH.

They are young birds, fat and tender. Special for Thanksgiving Dinner.

California Dressed Turkey

Fat and tender, any weight from 8 to 23 lbs. Celery, Chestnuts, Cranberries, Eastern Oysters.

Place your order early. Phone 3451.

C. Q. Yee Hop & Co.,

Meat Market and Groceries.

Something To Remember

You have many a friend on the mainland who wishes he had the opportunity to see the beauties of Hawaii.

Why not fulfill his wish by sending him a copy of The Star-Bulletin's Illustrated Souvenir of Hawaii?

This beautiful book will familiarize him not only with the resources and commercial activities of these islands, but will show him every picturesque place of interest.

Great care has been taken in the preparation of this book, and it stands today as the most artistic printing ever produced in Hawaii.

Ask to see the Souvenir at the following:

Hawaiian News Co. Wall, Nichols Co.
A. B. Arleigh & Co. Fisher's News Cart
Young Hotel News Stand

Nothing could be more appropriate for Christmas than this splendid gift.

Do Your Christmas Shopping Early

FINE ASSORTMENT OF HOLIDAY GOODS NOW DISPLAYED AT

SA YEGUSA

WE PUT UP YOUR GOODS READY FOR MAILING

Mrs. Harriet Langdon Schuyler, widow of Gen. Philip Schuyler, died at her home at Irvington, N. Y.

STAR-BULLETIN 75 CENTS PER MONTH